

THE C.H.A.D

Welcome

Volume 1, Issue 4, 01/30/17

So far so good. I can't believe I have not missed a week yet! Thank you all for letting me know that you like getting the newsletter. It is awesome that people are actually reading this. I would love to hear from more people about topics that they want me to cover

Quizziz

There is a cool new website devoted to making it easy to quiz your students. Check out Quizziz to create and share quizzes that you can customize for students or search by topic to challenge your students. They can participate without having an account and they can use any type of device they want.

Technology Quote of the week

Never trust anything that can think for itself if you can't see where it keeps its brain.

~J.K. Rowling

School Loop

Here are some tips to help you become a School Loop Expert.

1. When you put your grades in an assignment on School loop, students can only see grades that are "Published." Make sure that you take the time to publish all grades that you want the students to see.
2. When it comes time to export your grades at the end of a grading period, you have 2 options to export. The first option is the complete gradebook; this exports all of the grades, no matter if the grades were published or not. The second is the current gradebook; this is based on the published grades that the students can see. It is important to use the correct one.
3. Don't forget to check your Weighting settings. A lot of the time when teachers are having trouble with their gradebooks it is because they are putting assignments in the wrong category of their set weighting.

Google Basics Slideshow

Here is a link to a Google Slideshow I stole off the internet that goes through the basics of using Google Applications. Enjoy!

https://docs.google.com/presentation/d/1nGiyypdDK0SAvnkliQv50I-fl0_03gefaqXL1x93ZP0/edit?usp=sharing

Technology Fun Fact of the Week

If you are able to find a way to hack into Facebook then they will pay you up to $500.

To remove your name from our mailing list, please click here.
Questions or comments? E-mail us at ccochrane@srvusd.net